Harvard Man Named To Aid Finance Head

A. K. Eaton, Native of Nova Scotia, to Fill Post as Advisor

OTTAWA, Jan. 20.—Appointment of A. K. Eaton, of Nova Scotia, as an expert advisor on taxation in the finance department was announced today by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, minister of finance.

"Owing to the tremendous pressure of work in the department along specialized lines, arising out of the exceptionally heavy taxation, particularly for this session, and to make a scientific treatment of the incidence of taxation, the Department of Finance has engaged the services of Mr. A. K. Eaton," Mr. Rhodes said.

Mr. Eaton is a native of Nova Scotia, and a Canadian citizen, as have been his predecessors for many generations. That he was engaged at Harvard is evidence of his qualifications.

Mr. Eaton is a graduate of Acadia University, and having obtained the I.O.D.E. scholarship, took post-graduate work at the London (England) School of Economics, specializing in taxation and finance. He later was awarded the degree of doctor of philosophy at Harvard.

Following the jury's return court was adjourned and the jury was held under police supervision at the King Edward hotel until Monday.

Police Hold Jury.

The jury in the "Fusty" case were driven out to the scene of the tragedy near Oliver Boyde, accompanied by Mr. Justice Boyde, and arrived at the court house in which Fred Jackson is alleged to have been sentenced to death by William Fusty, his son, on December 14.

It will be late Monday before the case concludes. Mrs. Fusty will take the stand herself on Monday morning and will probably be on the stand all day, it was hinted by Fred Jackson, her defense counsel.

A. W. Miller, the man's counsel, has already announced that he will not call the defendant.

Following the jury's return court was adjourned and the jury was held under police supervision at the King Edward hotel until Monday.

AIRMAN TELLS OF HIS RESCUE FLIGHT NORTH

Pilot Returns to Mooseone With Story of Picking Up Bridal Pair

MOOSEONE, Ont., Jan. 20.—Back from the silent places of the Arctic where he picked up a stranded air party at Fort Harrison, Pilot R. J. Lymburner today told the story of Dick Bibby's flight into the north and his own rescue jaunt.

Lymburner, who was flying a biplane yesterday after locating Bibby and the stranded party at Fort Harrison, said the rescue was a "bumpy ride."

Lymburner said in the wake of the Bibby plane when it returned here was long overdue. Bibby set out on Dec. 20 with Sunderland and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart to take the newly-married Stewarts to Poughkeepsie, about 1,000 miles north of here.

The Stewarts were flown to Poughkeepsie, where the groom assumed the post of managing a trading station. Mrs. Stewart's first husband, a pilot, was killed in a crash landing. Lymburner said he expected Bibby to be back here in about a week by a wider way than the one he took.

Pioneer Converted Virgin Forest Into Fertile Farming Land

Twelve miles south of the city of Vancouver in the fertile Fraser Valley lies the town of Ladner, founded in 1887 by T. E. Ladner, rugged pioneer who left Kent county, England, and came to British Columbia via Cape Horn to build himself a home among the monarchs of the forest. Today, the Ladner estate is divided and forms the home and revenue producer of over a thousand, approximately 1,000 persons, who are enjoying the benefits of a scientifically directed agricultural life.

The story of this transition was told today in Edmonton by S. A. McLeod, former resident of the city and now actively engaged in the management of the colony.

Upon the death of T. E. Ladner, his son Leon J. Ladner, M.P., K.C., received the estate. When Leon Ladner's manly virtues prevented him from getting down to operating a large farm.

SUCCESSFUL VENTURE.

Following extensive investigation in the United States, it was decided to divide the estate into small farms, each about 2 1/2 acres, to sell to these people and devote the land to raising poultry products together with the cultivation of fruit.

CAPITALISM HAS FAILED

Mr. McCormick, who opened the debate for "Resolved that capitalism has failed and always will fail because it is run on a few alternative systems, or Fascism, which are both out of the question," argued that he had already socialized more industries than he realized, and if only half of those were to be de-socialized and put under private control the people would be ruined.

WHO SETS THE RATES?

The financial sessions do not promise that the Ottawa conference will result in any such changes in the money policy of Canada as will ease the burden of the Dominion's debt.

Nothing of freeing them from the folly of paying interest to private parties for the privilege of using public money.

It was modestly suggested that the Dominion underwrite new issues of provincial bonds, thus making it possible for the provinces to put through conversion loans without raising their interest rates to the level of those paid by the Dominion.

"The immediate federal reaction" was that such a plan might force Dominion rates upward, instead of forcing provincial rates downward.

The federal Government is in better position than the provincial ministers to know what the controllers of our national money and credit supply would do in a situation of that kind.

The suggested "reaction" is not likely to be very wide of the mark. Cheap money is naturally not popular in those quarters.

It is pretty safe to assume the provinces will not be able to pay more than the Dominion, unless the Dominion Government is prepared to "talk turkey" to the financial magnates.

The "reaction" does not indicate any intention on the part of the federal Government to take the matter in hand and tell the money kings they must supply the provinces with cheap money or the Dominion will do it.

The plain inference is that the decision as to what interest rates are to be on provincial bonds lies squarely with the Government and Parliament of Canada.

MORE HELP, OR LESS?

The four western provinces at the Ottawa conference have been hearing what some people in eastern Canada think about them and the west.

The substance of it is that the western governments have been recklessly extravagant, so much so that these provinces will never be able to pay back the money the Dominion has advanced to them to help them meet the difficulties of the depression.

The premiers, as was to be expected, defended their governments. They were not against this criticism, producing facts and figures to show that if the west is given a fair break in national finance and trade policies it can make good its record in a very short time.

Which may or may not convince the critics.

The more serious matter is that Premier Bennett seems to have been influenced by this attack upon the western provinces, or to be about to do so.

He is reported to have proposed that the Dominion withdraw from further relief effort, leaving it to the provinces to take care of their unemployed, while the Dominion restricts its expenditure to the construction of public works.

That would be a satisfactory arrangement provided the Dominion is prepared to spend millions enough to provide the amount of work necessary to absorb the labor surplus. The difficulty is that the Dominion is not prepared to do so.

Against further loans to the western provinces would be equally, or still more strongly, opposed to spending in the west the amount of federal money that would be required to employ our idle men at wages.

There is in the situation an unpleasant suggestion that the west is being asked to pay more, assistance than it has been getting from the Dominion.

THE RIGHT TO BE HEARD

The impression seemed to prevail at the U.F.A. convention that a general provincial election will be held in 1933. Why the delegates supposed this is not clear. It is not a reference to the voters until compelled by statute to permit an election, was not the province was formed has a legislature set out the full five year term allowed by law. With that exception, there is no provision for an election every four years. The rule of quadrennial elections is therefore thoroughly established, and a departure from it would be a breach of custom requiring cause to be shown.

"Let everyone please his neighbor for his good to edification."

vest amounts on other than usual purposes. If there is valid ground for the claim, advanced in the convention, that the Dominion Government should resign, the same considerations forbid that the provincial Government should refuse to allow the electors an opportunity to express their views at the customary interval.

And the convention itself has supplied at least one new and major reason why there should be a general election held during the coming year. Before any such radical change is made in the system, the people who support these schools, and whose children are taught in them, are entitled to be heard. They have a right to say whether they approve the proposal or not, and, if they approve, what brand or brands of policies they want taught to their children by teachers paid out of their tax money.

If there were no other reason for holding an election this year, the fact that it is a sense of public responsibility would suffice to permit the voters to express their views on the proposed change.

It is before turning to the "pro" and "con" propaganda factors. In demanding that this be done the convention has made an election inevitable before another school term opens, if responsible government is to continue in this province.

Poems That Live

SURPRISED BY JOY
Surprised by joy—inspired as the Wind
I turned to share the transport—Oh! with whom
But there, dear friend, is the silent tomb.
That spot which no vicissitude can find?
Love, faithful love, recalled thee to my mind—
But how could I forget thee? Through what power.

Even for the least division of an hour,
I have a picture of thee before me,
To my most grievous loss? That thought's
The worst pang that sorrow ever bore.

Save one, one only, when I stood forlorn,
Knowing my heart's best treasure was no more;
That neither present time, nor years untold
Could to my sight that heart's best treasure restore.

—William Wordsworth.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COOPER

One good turn deserves another. It isn't so many years ago since the guns of an American warship under Admiral Perry forced Japan to open her ports to trade. United States had a number of things to sell.

The Japs have learned the lesson of trade so well that last week at San Pedro they landed 4000 cases of canned tuna fish from Japanese canneries all ready labeled with the W.R.A. blue eagle. The fraud was discovered and the cases ordered held.

Landing salmon canned in Japan on the London market with British Columbia labels on the Japanese business enterprise. Cotton with English trade marks, well known proprietary English table saws in bottles and labels and wrappers copied from the British makers, tooth pastes, cosmetics, anything at all with a proprietary value, is copied in Japan.

One of the most courageous efforts at deception was the shipment of a huge consignment of electric light bulbs (made in Japan) into United States markets with the trade mark of the General Electric Company and enclosed in boxes stamped in the G.E.C. type, "Manufactured by the General Electric Company, Schenectady, N.Y. Made in U.S.A." The Japanese attitude isn't so much immoral as unscrupulous. They see that the G.E. in the outer world have any proprietary rights as against themselves.

The successful flight of an air squadron from Uncle Sam's army across the Pacific to Honolulu was not lost on the Japanese, who it may have been merely a matter of time to admire the audacity of the radio announcer who said of the flight: "It is expected to cement the friendship that exists between Japan and the United States."

Japan is panicky over the U.S.-Soviet pact of friendship. The Japanese are afraid of the people, apt to lose their heads under offence. Canadian flyers who have given tuition in Japan, say that the Japanese are in a state of emergency. They are the bravest that will rush into death, not the bravest that can keep its brain packed in ice and cool working to save itself under difficulties. The Honolulu flight may give the Japanese pause; my opinion is that it will whip their fears into a cold flame and speed the seemingly inevitable clash.

If there's an outbreak of war between the two nations, it may create some difficulties for British Columbia. Some years ago I made a survey of the Asiatic penetration of B.C. with the Rockefeller Foundation. When the Japanese berry-growers drove the white berry-growers out of the coast, they were working to save the north bank of the Fraser river, they were notified when they formed settlements round the bridge-heads and other strategic points. Every Japanese was either an army or navy reservist. The lead man at Mission had been a lieutenant in the Japanese army, chief engineer at the destruction of Rostovsk's fleet.

There are many thousands of Japanese in California, indeed all the way on the Pacific coast from Mexico to Alaska, each trained to arms. I have reason for believing that Japan can win an annihilation war against the United States. The airplane route between United States and Japan is more likely to follow the wing of the coast-guard than the straight line than a direct line across the ocean. British Columbia may have many a nest problem in the art of preserving neutrality in the coming clash.

Japan is, despite her trade war, a good customer of Canada, buying more from us than any other country. The Japanese are a good customer of Canada, buying more from us than any other country. The Japanese are a good customer of Canada, buying more from us than any other country.

London—Not for many years has so much interest been aroused in a suit as in the proceedings opened in Bow street police court in which eight officers of the British army and a number of members of civilian are accused of wholesale graft in connection with the purchase of army "canteens."

Washington—The U.S. government has bought two milligrams of radium from Paris, for $1500. The substance will be used in an effort to standardize radium in the United States.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION—Mary from Baton Rouge, La.: "I have a plant called Rose of Sharon. It is a garden plant, the young leaves of which are used as a garnish for food. Is it safe to eat? It is a good cook spinach or use for salads."

ANSWER—Rochester, or Rochester, is a garden plant, the young leaves of which are used as a garnish for food. Is it safe to eat? It is a good cook spinach or use for salads.

Horoscope

By MARY BLAKE

If you were born on January 21, you are gifted with versatility. Social affairs have a great deal of attraction for you and your readiness to enter into any form of entertainment, primarily for the amusement of others, will always make you popular.

The woman born on January 21, possibly, as it grows older, may become rather a puzzle to you, as it will have a rather contradictory disposition.

If you are a woman, and born on January 21, you are very sentimental, and romantically inclined.

The man, whose birthday is January 21, is inclined to take life rather seriously.

People born on January 21 are very unselfish, and are believed to be patriotic. They are keenly interested in any movements that will benefit the country, as a whole.

If you were born on January 22, you are one of those people who radiate good humor, and you are a person who is not easily offended. You are the person who differs with your opinion, for you do not know the art of arguing.

The child born on January 22, as it grows older, will display a great deal of anything of a mechanical construction, and toys of that nature will have the greatest appeal.

The woman born on January 22 has a very independent nature, and is self-assured. If you once form an opinion, it is a fixed one, and it is almost impossible to make you change your mind.

The man whose birthday is January 22 must cultivate cheerfulness. You can make your life more cheerful by a record of your own life.

People born on January 22 may secure a great deal of happiness, if they will cultivate a love for out-of-door sports.

Cleanliness in Home

Helps Health

By DOCT. FRANK MCCOY

I am writing this article on a Saturday morning, when I know that many of you are busy cleaning house. Therefore, I believe it will be appropriate to discuss an important health rule which every good housekeeper practices every day—this is, that to keep clean is to help keep well.

Be you sweep and scour this very morning, you are increasing the cleanliness of your home. It is not the most pleasing and one of the most elevating and thankful of tasks, yet I assure you that the cleaning which you do so regularly is very necessary and important.

League In Secret Session Tomorrow

U.F.W.A. TO JOIN FORCES TO GIVE AID

Will Assist in Forming Central Group For Helping Expectant Mothers

Joining forces to assist expectant mothers in destitute circumstances in rural Alberta, it was decided at the closing session of the convention in McDougall church Friday afternoon, Mrs. Ross of Millie told that in cases in which there was not even a covering for the baby's head, each local unit will be called upon to pay one dollar for a fund to provide layettes and supplies.

CONFIDENCE IN GOVT

Confidence in the provincial government was expressed unanimously when a resolution was passed in which members pledged themselves to loyalty to a greater extent than heretofore. It was felt that there had been "a great deal of ill-will and hostile criticism of the provincial government which had been seized upon by portions of the general public as well as by individual members of the organization."

A course in "International Affairs Since 1900" at the Summer School in Edmonton will be sought, and protest was made against the raising of Normal School and University fees. Reduction of the automobile license by 25% was asked in another resolution. It was unanimously agreed to use the Frances Johnston Memorial as the nucleus of a lending library for the use of books.

WILL STAY AT OLDS

A resolution seeking to move Mrs. W. H. W. to Olds was unanimously voted down, as it was felt that the informal atmosphere of Olds was most suitable for the type of women who were to be taken to the week for a change from home atmosphere. A resolution asking the Douglas Credit System with a view to giving necessary credit to each bona fide citizen was referred to the U.F.W.A. executive. After much discussion a resolution seeking to place made on the resolution at an examination subject was lost, as it was felt that many excellent teachers were not fitted by nature to teach music and their standing might be impaired.

Two resolutions seeking changes in source laws were referred to the executive for study without being put before the convention for discussion. The banner of greatest increase in membership went to Mrs. Banner of A. C. A. and Mrs. McLeod of McLeod second.

Russ Envoy May Visit Canada

Here are the newest of Washington's diplomatic corps. These are Ambassador M. Troianovsky and his family, who will re-open the magnificent old Russian Imperial Embassy in Washington as official envoy of the U.S.S.R. Troianovsky on arrival in New York stated that he would probably make an unofficial visit to Canada in the hope, it is thought, of starting further negotiations with Canada for trade with Russia. He says, however, that the next move in the negotiations is with Canada.

when the power companies were at their wits end to keep up the supply of "juice" for the operation of industrial plants. It will be recalled that in Vancouver of all places, prayers for rain were offered that day in the churches on the first Sunday in December.

But it is something more serious than even curtailment of loss of power that threatens great cities such as Liverpool, Manchester. It is failure of the great reservoirs to provide the millions of gallons required daily for human consumption. Smaller places, little towns and villages that depend on local streams and natural basins are already in dire straits. One hour's drought and water is unavailable and where ponds are drawn on for drinking water the use of which no health inspector would tolerate were there any other alternative. Singularly enough, however, although in such conditions typhoid should be rife, there is no sign of any epidemic and the unwashed villages appear healthy than ever.

Our Old Country Letter ---

By J. EDWARD NORCROSS

MANCHESTER.—The King, the Duke of Lancaster. Thus, by his own request, is the toast to His Majesty proposed at public or semi-public gatherings in Lancashire, as I discovered at a Rotary luncheon given in a hall in the northeastern part of the country. The function took place in the dining-room of an inn the age of which was indicated by the architecture through which access was obtained to it, an archway obviously built to admit the stage-coaches that carried passengers from London to Carlisle in the "probably short space of three days, weather and the state of the roads permitting."

A little while ago the street in front of the hotel was a scene of an immense and a mile or so distant a great hill loomed up, this latter made famous by Harrison's "The Duke of Lancaster" which the Duke of Lancaster himself had to turn at the wheel. And here, almost within a stone's throw of a grammar school dating back to the 14th century, and a church whose stained glass windows of which bear the arms of families famous when the Plantagenets ruled the land, Rotary was carrying on

HERE in Lancashire it has become a misdemeanor for the women in the long weeks of January to pursue their favorite occupation of walking down front steps and stone pavements. For Lancashire factory folk are as particular in such matters as the Dutch. They fight the crime that descends from the mill chimneys with all the furious persistence of the inhabitants of Spottiswood. Printed cautions in the newspapers having no effect, women have to be made of some of them and they were hauled up in police court and fined. But those women in shawls and cloaks are not to be deflected so easily. They bring out their buckets and brushes out at midnight when they are no policeman about to catch them at it.

This passion for clean and water is possibly an inheritance from those weavers from Holland who settled in Lancashire centuries ago and brought their industry with them to the great advantage of the country. Another survival in the wearing of cloaks, shawls and a sole, customary in this part of England only now dying out for cloaks are undoubtedly a species of the sabot of continental Europe.

PUT in simple terms, the shortage of water all over England and Wales is a fact that during the last nine months of 1933 practically no rain fell anywhere. The precipitation in January, February and March was normal but a drought set in that has continued with but the slightest interruptions ever since.

The summer, they tell me, was the driest known for generations. A lovely summer from the point of view of holiday-makers and weekenders. It continued dry throughout the autumn and into the winter with the result that, to quote the figures of a typical district, there is a shortage of about 24 inches which normally 10 or 11 inches may be expected to be filled during the next three months—that is if the drought does not continue. People look almost despairingly at the skies. Barometric depressions pass over the country, darkening the sky with heavy clouds but the rain does not fall.

It is not that the rain does not fall. Instead the rain is buried in fog for that lasts for days on end. That is why, although the present weather has been very dry for weeks, he has still to see his England.

THE DANCES familiar in Victorian days are coming into vogue again in this part of the world. A recent program featuring the waltz, the highland schottische, the polka, the military dances and the lancers—the dances we used to dance in early days in western Canada—has been given at a social and while the seeds have been sown, they have been watered by the Christmas entertainment at the school house.

Those old dances are dreadfully "fuddy-duddy," a young lady said to me. There is a good deal of the pride that says "amplitude in this country" in the way that the men and women who want a title, or another example of the great western house that carries on commerce with a dozen nations running annually into millions sterling. In a dark office up a dark alley, but your men and women there all one better, for he not only does not write such letters as "Dear Sir," but he does not drop names of them completely.

The other day I accompanied a friend who had to see professionally one of the greatest surgeons in England. The place was a large private residence distinguished only by its name and the name of its occupant which were painted in plain and unobtrusive letters on the opposite walls. "B-House," Mr. George Smith said. "The man had all sorts of top-notch degree, but you would have to look up 'Who's Who' to find out what they were. Of course, among others he had that of 'M.D.' that is to say he was entitled to be called 'Doctor.'"

"Doctor Smith," he is "Mr. Smith" and to "Mr. Smith" is ever so much more in his profession than being "Dr. Smith."

MAZINACTS OF TERRORISM ARE RELATED

Charges, Counter Charges Considered—Report Due Today

GENEVA, Jan. 20.—The trouble-making of the Saar Basin baffled the League of Nations in a lengthy secret session last night. Charges of illegal Nazi activities in the territory and Nazi counter-charges of police brutality by the League governing commission of the Saar have been coming daily before the council this week. The problem is increasing in intensity both sides prepare for the inevitable early next year to decide whether the Saar is to return to Germany, unite with France, or remain under the League.

FINANCIAL STABILIZATION

G. G. Know, chairman of the governing commission, described the situation in detail to the council last night and both the British and French foreign ministers in the general discussion followed and the upshot was appointment of a committee to report back before the public sitting of the council today.

FINANCIAL STABILIZATION

Max Brauer, German leader of the anti-Nazi Saar organization known as the "Saar Front," tonight in the Saar to keep order in the Saar. He was a battle against Hitler, not a battle against the League. He is a battle against the League, not a battle against the League.

TRUING LEAGUE

But it is something more serious than even curtailment of loss of power that threatens great cities such as Liverpool, Manchester. It is failure of the great reservoirs to provide the millions of gallons required daily for human consumption. Smaller places, little towns and villages that depend on local streams and natural basins are already in dire straits. Singularly enough, however, although in such conditions typhoid should be rife, there is no sign of any epidemic and the unwashed villages appear healthy than ever.

TERRORISM CHARGES

Brauer's Freshet Front today brought many charges of terrorism, boycott, and blackmail against the Saar Nazis. They charged that in countless cases superior officers of Nazis had ill-treated or injured adherents of non-Nazi parties, that they had persecuted, and that groups of Nazi children assaulted Jewish children in the streets.

The anti-Nazi leaders asserted that the Nazis had been continually being told that they were to join the Deutsche Front and they would forfeit their pensions. "Every one is badly informed," said the Freshet Front. "That there had better be no refusing of membership or otherwise there will be a great day of reckoning in 1935."

U. F. A. DELEGATES FAVOR WAR VETS

Unanimous approval was given on Friday by delegates to the annual convention of the United Farmers of Alberta to a resolution which "all debts outstanding against" war veterans under the Soldiers' Settlement Scheme be reduced to the amount owing at the time of 1930 and that henceforth there be no interest charges thereon.

Returned soldiers received further favorable consideration from the convention when it adopted a resolution "that the government grant free medical services to all men who have served in a theatre of war and that the government cannot be traced as being service due to their war service."

A special committee of returned soldier delegates had drafted these two motions.

After a lengthy discussion on the convention which had commenced in the morning delegates adopted a resolution that the government immediately infuse one currency by a central bank and that the value of farm products sufficient to maintain a just price level.

SLIGHTLY COLDER WEATHER SUNDAY

Generally fair weather is looked for over the week-end, but a slowly rising barometer indicates slightly colder temperatures on Sunday with the possibility of snow flurries late Sunday.

The barometer slumped to a sub-normal pressure during the night as a 14-mile south wind came up and swept the temperature up to above from one to two at 8 a.m. Saturday the pressure reading was 30.8 and at noon today it had risen to 30.6.

Low temperature last night was 11 above at 10 p.m., rising to 20 at 1 a.m. and 25 at 4 a.m. and above at nine a.m. At noon it had risen to 32 above.

Temperatures in the north were about steady at the level of the last few days, but were reported at McMurtry this morning.

Aim To Improve Fish Marketing Alberta Product

Better control of production and marketing of fish will be sought in proposals which will be laid before the provincial government prior to the next session of the legislature, according to R. T. Turner, secretary of the Alberta Fish Producers' Association.

The Winnipeg discussions are to be reported to the government. The objectives of the association are to have a better system of marketing the Alberta product and to have a better system of marketing the Alberta product.

It is feared that the U. S. market will be glutted and that the U. S. government will place an embargo on Canadian fish.

Alberta's fish production is now about 2,500,000 pounds a year.

Col. H. C. L. Gilman Banqueted By Men, Officers Of Unit

Warrant officers, N.C.O.'s and men of the 13th Division Signals, entertained Lieut. Col. H. C. L. Gilman and officers of the unit at a banquet on Friday evening at the Prince of Wales armory, the occasion being the departure of Lieut. Col. Gilman of the command of the unit.

In addition to those mentioned, guests included Col. A. W. Bennett, M.M., commanding the 29th Infantry Brigade; Lieut. Col. E. Brown, M.M., commanding the 29th Infantry Brigade; and Lieut. Col. James D. Baker.

Major E. Leese was chairman. Staff Sgt. R. Byer proposed the toast of Col. Gilman, who suitably replied.

Capt. Berry, on behalf of the hosts, then presented Col. Gilman with a handsome silver engraved plaque.

Hon. Col. Baker outlined experience of Signals officers and pointed out that Col. Gilman organized the first complete divisional signal company in 1925, some members of the original unit still carrying on.

There were present representatives of the Signals from Calgary, Lethbridge and Red Deer.

Man Makes Killing In Snake Killing GREENLEE, Col., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Lloyd Swain, rural mail carrier of Greenlee, Colo., claims the season's snake-killing record. While going his rounds recently he came upon a rattlesnake, which he killed before he left the spot he killed forty snakes. After completing his rounds he returned with Clyde Richardson and killed an additional thirty-three snakes. On the way back he bagged a black eagle and a crow.

Mount Vernon originally was planned by John Washington in 1670.

Ambulance Group Gave 2,500 Hours Of Voluntary Work

During 1933 2,500 hours of voluntary work were given by the 61 Edmonton Division No. 31 Ambulance Brigade Officers and 260 casualties treated, according to the annual report compiled by that organization. Thirty-six members were held for first, practice and return.

The first outstanding event of the year was the inter-city competition between Edmonton and Calgary, the latter winning the contest.

Service was given by the Brigade at the Highland Association and Dominion Day sports while strenuous duty was undertaken during the Edmonton Exhibition. First aid work was carried out at various rallies during the year.

The Brigade is steadily progressing and hopes to form sections for the street railway division in the city while it is anticipated that the first aid work will be formed at Millet or Westlock, Jasper and Poncha.

RIALTO FILM BIG SUCCESS, HOLDING OVER

"Lady for a Day" Gets Extra Booking by Popular Demand

"Lady for a Day" has proved so popular with Rialto patrons and so numerous have been the requests to be given a chance to see it again that the management have decided to hold this attraction over for an extended run. "Lady for a Day" is one of those pictures that gets under your skin. Patrons have come back to the Rialto to see it a second and third time and enjoyed it more each time. The cast includes Warren William, Gloria Stuart, Jean Parker, Guy Kibbee, Ned Sparks, Glenda Farrell, in fact the whole of the excellent cast seem suited to their parts. And the story that their portrayal unfolds is so human, so appealing that it holds the audience spellbound. We would advise all those who wish to view this appealing attraction to attend the early performance as crowded houses will be the order of the day.

"Dude" and Friends Held Over, Rialto

Warren "Dude" William and Glenda Farrell were talents combined in the picture "Dude" which has proved so popular with Rialto patrons that it will be held over for an extended run. The picture has been held over by popular demand.

LARGE CAST IN EMPRESS FILM

Six stellar comedians appear in the cast of the "Empress Theatre" which comes to the Empress Theatre on Monday for a three-day run. They are said to give the picture such an unusual comedy twist as to make it one of the most hilarious fun has been seen in many a long while.

Joan Blondell and Glenda Farrell, two of the most accomplished comedians of the screen, as the two Broadway chorus girls on a quest for millionaires in Havana when they play Joan Blondell and Glenda Farrell.

The other four scintillating comedians include Guy Kibbee, Allen Jenkins, Frank McHugh and Ruth Donnelly. With Lyle Talbot playing the part of the millionaire, the picture, which has a perfect plot for the comedy, is one of the most amusingly entertaining pictures yet shown.

Other members of the cast are also well known players and include Glenda Farrell, Guy Kibbee, Charles Wilson and Gary Owen.

The plot of the story by Earl Baldwin concerns the somewhat shocking adventures of two Broadway gold diggers who set out to make money by the old-time ladder game. It is treated in such a humorous way that the audience is sure to enjoy the picture.

The picture is one of the most amusing of the season and is one of the best of the season in the picture section of the Okanagan Valley, B.C.

HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY
By DAN THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 20.—Film-doms now has a new way of gauging the popularity of its actors and actresses—a picture which long has been one of Hollywood's favorite games.

In the past there have been several different methods—the salary received, and the number of pictures made. Our film critics really lack this job of grading one another with plenty of enthusiasm.

Their new standing is the number of feet of film in which each person appears during the year. Naturally, this isn't accurate, as many of our most popular stars make only one or two pictures a year. So these players are gauged by the percentage of their films in which they appear.

Freddie March, for example, played in five pictures during 1933. Of this combined footage of 46,000 feet, he was in 24,000 feet. So March's percentage is 52 per cent. George Raft also has a high rating, with 21,000 feet out of a possible 34,000.

This method of ranking players is proving quite accurate, as it gives a picture of the popularity of each player, which is what the public really wants to know.

Gray's vacation up to the time he entered the service was managing second rate fighters. He never had a real good punch, but he was always managed to get the fight going often enough to stay the night.

OTHER WAY AROUND
While in the amazing mood of the day, the equally amazing story of Jack Warner's new picture, "The Great Dictator," which is a satire on Hitler, is being shown in the picture section of the Okanagan Valley, B.C.

Such a deal never was made. Von got much more for his picture than he did for his picture. He got a lot of money for his picture, but he didn't get as much as he thought he would.

ALL SET FOR SUMMER
Hollywood isn't going to see much of Edward G. Robinson for the summer months but around Eddie Allen is having the family estate at Lake George, N.Y., reconditioned and expects to spend most of the summer there competing in motor boat races on the lake.

CHECKING UP ON ME
There's nothing like being practical. At least that's Jackie Cooper's idea. The other day a friend gave Jackie a microphone. And the first thing Jackie did was to examine his hands to find if it were as dirty as his mother claimed.

EDDIE CANTOR STARS LAVISH CAPITOL REVUE

Ruth Etting, Radio Song- stress, Featured in "Ro- man Scandals"

Ancient Rome in all its splendor, color and glory is the setting for "Roman Scandals," which begins a six-day showing at the Capitol Theatre today.

Ruth Etting, Gloria Stuart and David Manners are featured with Eddie in his newest picture, successor to last year's "The Kid From Spain."

The pageantry and the spectacle of that ancient day, with its military legions in burnished armor, the beautiful slave girls in chains and the Emperor's favorites in gowns of flowers, the glitter and pomp of a stately court and their chariots through clouds of dust—all helped to give Goldwyn a generous opportunity for another of the best productions that he makes of the ancient Roman carnivals of fun and splendor.

This is only a setting, however, for the simple and human tale of that ancient day, with its military legions in burnished armor, the beautiful slave girls in chains and the Emperor's favorites in gowns of flowers, the glitter and pomp of a stately court and their chariots through clouds of dust—all helped to give Goldwyn a generous opportunity for another of the best productions that he makes of the ancient Roman carnivals of fun and splendor.

Ruth Etting, radio's songbird, Eddie Cantor, the funniest of stage, screen and air, and Gloria Stuart, one of the more lovely of Hollywood's beauties, pictured above, all take prominent parts in "Roman Scandals," opening at the Capitol today for a week's run.

The wicked Empress Valerius and by statuette Verne Treadwell as the Empress Agrippa. Gloria Stuart and David Manners are concerned in the romance that is guided along its rocky path by Eddie and Ruth Etting has the role of Olga, the discarded mistress of the Emperor.

When the divided into the bay that night it was for sudden purpose but the landed right in the middle of the fishing net and there—Robert Tronco has been arrested here. The German police has requested his extradition.

Rate Penmanship For Admission Fee

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 20.—In another novel way to set the price of admission for students at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and their fair parents, a dance committee devised a system of prices depending on the rating given the student by a hand writing expert stationed at the entrance to the hall.

The better the grade of penmanship, the lower the entrance fee. The "atrocious" writer might cost her about $10. Last year it depended on weight and color.

HEART OF LIANE

By MABEL McLELLIOTT

"You're a little girl, aren't you?"

"Yes, I am."

"What's your name?"

"Liane."

"Liane, what's your father's name?"

"My father's name is John."

"John? What's his first name?"

"John."

"John? What's his last name?"

"John."

"John? What's his first name?"

"John."
